Munich. As anticipation runs high, the ADAC Rallye Deutschland ignites the next turbocharger and rolls out the official Rally Germany magazine. On over 80 pages, the magazine has everything fans need to get into the right mood for the rallying action in the Saarland and the neighbouring regions between 16 and 19 August. For real rally fans, it is both a valuable source of information and a coveted collectible. The official ADAC Rallye Deutschland magazine can now be purchased from the on-line ticket shop at www.adac.de/rallye-deutschland.

It has all the facts and figures concerning the 2018 ADAC Rallye Deutschland. An extensive service section presents the Special Stages of the rally in a trilingual layout (German, English and French). Detailed maps show the way to the best spectator areas. The practical supplement, a loose-insert folded spectator map, provides the big picture as well as essential safety warnings.

The captivating background stories make this magazine a truly good read. They cover ADAC Rallye Deutschland history, a Porsche comeback and the spectacular WRC cars of this year's competitors. Particular insights are provided by sports journalist Andrea Kaiser, wife of five-time world champion Sébastien Ogier, and Walter Röhrl, rally driver of the millennium, present with an exclusive insider tip. The magazine also covers the new venue for the Start and Finish procedure, the small town of St Wendel, as well as the goings-on in the AUTODOC Service Park at Bostalsee.

Priced at €5 + shipping, the official ADAC Rallye Deutschland magazine is available from the on-line ticket shop at www.adac.de/rallye-deutschland. It can also be ordered by e-mail to ticket@rallye-deutschland.de. Early birds stand to profit from a very attractive pre-sale package: buy a 4-day rally pass and get the magazine free. During the ADAC Rallye Deutschland, the magazine will be on sale at the on-site ticket offices, info points and directly at the Special Stages.
