Megaforce set to become new partners of ADAC GT Masters

- Strong team: Specialists in event technology and the ADAC GT Masters
- Megaforce will build an innovative viewing platform at racetracks
- New stage for ‘Meet the Drivers’

Munich: Preparations for the 2021 season are already in full swing just a few days after the close of the ADAC GT Masters season. The series is now set to enter into partnership with stage construction specialists, Megaforce, in order to give fans and guests of the Super Sports Car League a better experience at the racetrack.

In the ADAC GT Masters, Megaforce will be the new presenting partners for ‘Meet the Drivers’, the interview/autograph sessions with drivers in the paddock. For this purpose, Megaforce will construct a special stage in the paddock at all seven races. A real treat is in store for fans at certain meetings, as an expert stage crew will erect an 8.5-metre-high viewing platform at the track, enabling fans to get an exclusive look at the race action. The platform will be erected in accordance with all official safety guidelines, using a system tested by TÜV.

“We’re looking forward to working with the ADAC GT Masters,” said Michael Brombacher, CEO and owner of Megaforce. “We already have plenty of new ideas for next year that we would like to put into practice and intend to offer fans a completely fresh perspective.”

“The ADAC GT Masters would like to welcome another strong partner to the fold,” said Thomas Voss, Head of ADAC Motorsport, Classic and Events. “With more than 20 years experience, Megaforce are a world-leading service provider in their sector. Megaforce specialists will ensure that fans and guests see the ADAC GT Masters from a completely new perspective at racetracks.”

About Megaforce

Megaforce have become famous for providing unique, innovative, safe solutions in the areas of stage construction, event setting-up, specialised constructions and event infrastructure, having been involved for over 25 years with open-air concerts for bands like the Toten Hosen, the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Helene Fischer’s ‘Farbenspiel – LIVE’ stadium tour, for example, with other high-profile rock concerts and sporting events such as the FIFA Women’s World Championship and the X Games, plus a large number of major events, including the Pope’s visit.

The company currently has a range of 30 different stage systems, focusing mainly on large stages for festivals and concerts and on the classic RBB round-arch stages often used for corporate and classical events. Based in south-west Germany, the company also produces individual stage elements and additions as well as complete stage sets.

In the field of company events and specialised constructions too, Megaforce are top professionals and can provide complete packages and solutions, ranging from temporary halls, sport jumps, canopies and grandstands to scaffolding, plus steel/truss structures.
