Great excitement, great show: #FanFinale in the German GT Championship at the Nürburgring

- Presentation ceremony in the heart of the paddock
- eBay Tower and eBay Box the places to be for special moments
- ADAC Vorteilswelt Lounge for members and a Porsche promotion

Munich. A presentation ceremony among the fans, autograph sessions, an open pit lane, and much more: There will once again be plenty for visitors to the German GT Championship to discover in the open and fan-friendly paddock at the grand finale at the Nürburgring. Tickets for the race weekend are available online at adac.de/motorsport. Day tickets start at € 22.50 for members (€ 25 for non-members), while admission is free for children aged 12 and under.

Champions' celebrations with the fans

One highlight of the final weekend are the presentation ceremonies in the Event Area at the eBay Tower in the paddock. The spectators are in the thick of the action when the new champions of the ADAC GT Masters, ADAC GT4 Germany, ADAC TCR Germany and ADAC Formula 4 are crowned on Sunday.

Attractions: eBay Box and eBay Tower

Fans can again look forward to the popular eBay Box and the unique eBay Tower in the paddock at the Nürburgring. In the eBay Box, fans will gain a unique insight into what goes on in the pit lane – including during practice sessions and the races. On Sunday, during the pit walk, the latest edition of the online magazine “ADAC GT Masters Backstage” will be broadcast from the eBay Box, with fans welcome to watch. The nine-metre eBay Tower is a real highlight. The viewing platform offers visitors a spectacular view of the iconic racetrack in the Eifel region of Germany.

For members: The ADAC Vorteilswelt Lounge

One port of call for ADAC members is the ADAC Vorteilswelt Lounge in the paddock. Here, club members can enjoy free coffee from Vorteilswelt partner Eni, charge their mobile phone, or use the free Wi-Fi to surf the Internet. They can also find out more about the diverse offerings of ADAC Vorteilswelt. Autograph collectors are in for a treat at the “Meet the Drivers” session at the ADAC Hospitality, from 17:00 on Saturday. Interviews with the stars of the German GT Championship will also take place here.

Not to be missed: The open pit lane

During the pit walks (Saturday 12:00 and 17:30, and Sunday 12:55), fans in the pit lane can watch the ADAC GT Masters teams as they prepare their super sports cars for the races. From 20:00 on Saturday evening, the online show “PS on Air – The Ravenol ADAC GT Masters Talk” will be broadcast from the open pit lane. Visitors are welcome to watch the live broadcast. Presenter Patrick Simon will be joined by guests to analyse the most spectacular scenes from the opening race of the German GT Championship.

eSport on the ring°boulevard

Fans can dive into the world of virtual motorsport in the RaceRoom Cafe on the ring°boulevard at the Nürburgring, where they can try their hand, free of charge, at mastering the circuit in the Eifel. Awaiting fans there are several simulators with the RaceRoom simulation that is also used in the ADAC GT Masters eSports Championship powered by EnBW mobility+.

Porsche stand in the paddock

The Porsche Carrera Cup Deutschland headed into the winter break after the latest outing in Hockenheim. However, the partner series of the ADAC GT Masters is still present in the Nürburgring paddock. Porsche will present various vehicles, including two Porsche 911 GT3 Cups and several production cars, in an exhibition area by the eBay Tower. Spectators can also enjoy free waffles there.

Talented youngsters showcase their skills

The next generation of motorsport stars will also provide plenty of action at the Nürburgring. On Saturday, the old paddock will host the DMSJ kart slalom final, while the paddock is the venue for the national final of the ADAC Slalom Youngster series. The DMSJ final in this discipline will also take place there on Sunday.
