Munich: The ADAC Formula 4 will have a new partner to supply rims for the start of the 2018 season. German rim manufacturer ATS will equip the ADAC high-speed school with high-tech alloy wheels "Made in Germany" over the next three years. The established company has been closely associated with motorsport for many years, has already had its own team in Formula 1 and is currently the official supplier of rims to the DTM.

Dr Wolfgang Hiller, CEO at UNIWHEELS AG: "For many years, the ATS brand has been successfully represented in many racing series. We are very proud of the fact that we supply rims to the DTM and Formula 3 and will now equip Formula 4 exclusively as well, starting in 2018. Through our involvement in motorsport, we can demonstrate ATS's technical know-how and that of the entire UNIWHEELS Group."
